The great and cosmopolitan race of showmen is soon to lose one of its most pleturesque and prominent figures. Colonel William F. Cody, scout and Indian fighter, ex-member of the Nebruska Legislature and personal friend of General Nelson A. Miles, known throughout the world as "Buffalo Bill," is about to retire from all connection with the collosal show which has so long borne his name.

The forthcoming season will be his last as a public caterer and entertainer. He will hencemorth devote his time to cemmercial pursuits. His two principal occupations are to be the management of the Dulath (Minn.) Press, which he already owns, and the foundation of a model colony on the banks of the Shoshone River, thirtyfive miles from Yellowstone Park.

"I propose," said Colonel Cody yesterday, just before taking the train for Philadel-phia, where his show is to open on the 18th of this mouth, "to leave a monument of my work for the West by founding a colony in the Big Horn Basin which shall
